SUMMARY

I am Muh Hidayat, born in Sulawesi on November 23, 2005, and currently residing in Papua. As an Information Technology student, I am highly motivated to pursue a career in the tech industry. With creativity, curiosity, and great enthusiasm, I have a strong passion for managing social media, particularly in web development. I am deeply interested in visual design, such as poster creation, and its impact on customer behavior toward a brand. My experience as a web creator and developer has further fueled this passion. I am a person who loves learning new things and finding creative solutions to various challenges. With a positive outlook, strong adaptability, and the ability to create a stable work environment, I am capable of working efficiently and maintaining focus, even under pressure.
